Module 1: Introduction to the role of the preceptor
This module has been developed to provide learners with an understanding of the role of the preceptor in healthcare settings. This course will cover the key terms and concepts of preceptorship, developing rapport, facilitation of lifelong learning, teaching strategies, and barriers to effective learning. This is the first of three modules.

Module 2: Facilitating learning in practice settings
This module outlines some strategies to facilitate learning in clinical practice settings. In particular the module examines professional socialisation; learning organisations; the impact of bullying on the transition of new staff; the impact of intergenerational differences on the preceptor-preceptee relationship; and values clarification

Cost: Nil

Enrolment Form: alanna.kelly@jcu.edu.au

More Information: sue.crocker@jcu.edu.au or Phone 0437 301 273

This project was made possible by funding from Health Workforce Australia, through the Department of Health Queensland